Last Game

The T-Bones avoided a sweep by making two three run comebacks last night to force extra innings where Noah Perio Jr. hit the second pitch of the 10th to center field for a solo a home run. The teams fought through a 35-minute rain delay in what was a back and forth affair all night.

Today

The T-Bones will try turn around a slow month of August opening a three-game series against division bunk mates the Cleburne Railroaders. In game one of the three game set RHP Josh Hodges (4-4, 6.46) takes the ball for the visitors while the home town boys will send out lefty Adam Bleday (1-1, 2.53).

vs. CLE

Last season was Cleburne's first in the American Association. Playing at the brand-new Depot at Cleburne Station complete with replica train engines and rail cars they have been a hit in the south suburbs of Fort Worth, Texas. This year they have had the services of Rafael Palermo but lost him to the DL today. The T-Bones are 7-2 this season against Cleburne and over the last two season KC owns the series at 11-4.

Following an off day, the T-Bones will travel to Lincoln for a three-game series beginning Tuesday night the 21st at 6:45 pm followed by a day night double header on the 22nd. Game one will be at 11:00 am on the 22nd a nine-inning game followed by another nine-inning game at 6:45 pm.

Roster Moves

The T-Bones signed IF Anthony Phillips and have released OF Logan Moon from the roster. The release is in today's notes.

August

So far August has not been kind to KC. The team is 7-8 in the month after a 2-0 start. The team average dropped from .328 in June to .276 in July and to .259 in August. The overall average has dropped from a league leading .312 on July 1st to .292 going into tonight but still second in the AA. The flip side was the home run total jumped from 15 in June to 26 in July. So far in 15 games of August the power number is at 10 for the month. By contrast the club hit .261 last August the second highest month to .266 for the month of June of 2017. The team went 16-15 for the month of August last season.

Moving on up

Wirkin Estevez is the third player to sign as a free agent with the AAA Mexican League. The T-Bones have lost 11 players during the season to affiliated ball yet still somehow are still in the hunt and reached a franchise best 23 games above .500 last week. Dylan Tice became the 38th Kansas City player and the eighth this season to have his contract purchased while with the T-Bone last week. In May, the Washington Nationals purchased the contract of outfielder Adam Brett Walker, and the New York Mets purchased the contract of right-handed pitcher Cody Martin. On July 3, the Cubs purchased the contract of left-handed T-Bones pitcher James Buckelew. On July 7, the Cincinnati Reds purchased the contract of left-handed pitcher Carlos Diaz. On July 13, the Seattle Mariners purchased the contract of left-handed pitcher Joe Filomeno, and on July 17 the Texas Rangers picked up OF/IF Nick Torres. Taylor Featherston was plucked from the roster less than two weeks ago by the Cincinnati Reds on July 24th. Add IF/OF Frank Duncan to the mix signed by the Dodgers just a week before spring trainings. On that note the club has lost the #6 Dylan Tice and #9 Nick Torres ranked batting averages in the league.

The Eleven

Just how many of the opening night T-Bones are still around? Here was the opening night lineup:

1. Keith Curcio CF – Still with T-Bones
2. Dexter Kjerstad LF – Traded to Winnipeg
3. Zach Walters 3B – Traded to St. Paul
4. Adam Walker DH -Signed by Nationals
5. Nick Torres RF – Signed by Texas
6. Cal Towey 1B -Injured inactive list
7. Adrian Nieto C -Still with T-Bones
8. Angel Rosa SS – Traded to Cleburne
9. Dylan Tice 2B – Signed by Mets

The starting pitcher that night was Luis Paula who is now inactive due to injury who replaced the original scheduled opening night starter Cody Martin who got off the bus on the way to the ballpark in Wichita to board a flight to AAA with the New York Mets. There are 10 players with the T-Bones still from opening night. The other 8 are Tucker Pennell and pitchers Lucas Irvine, Barrett Astin, Pasquale Mazzoccoli, Jackson Lowery, Cody Winiarski, Tommy Collier and Hunter Adkins.

Extra Extra

The T-Bones lead the circuit with 158 doubles leading St. Paul by three. The American Association record for doubles is 251 set by Amarillo in 2011. The T-Bones franchise record for two baggers is 212 set in back to back seasons in 2007 and 2008. KC is second in the AA in extra base hits, but it is a heck of a race with Lincoln at the plate as the Saltdogs passed KC during this current 7-8 stretch of August. The T-Bones have 238 while Lincoln has 244.

51 and counting

Kansas City surpassed the franchise win total for all of last season (42) on August 9th, 2017. The team went 42-58 on 2016. The franchise record for wins in a season is 58 from 2010. KC would go to a 57-43 mark to finish the 2017 season with the second-best record in franchise history. The Team is on pace to break that mark this season. The club needs seven wins over the next 17 games to tie the mark and eight to break it.

2010- 58-42

2017- 57-43

2012 -51-49

2015 -49-51

2004, 2011, 2014 – the team won 48 games each year.

Down the Dog Days Stretch

KC has 18 games remaining, while rival Wichita, who trails KC by ½ game in the wild card race, have 17 games left. The two teams will play each other for the final three regular season home games during the final nine game home stand. The T-Bones have 12 home games and 6 road games left while the Wingnuts have 11 home and 6 road contests. The combined winning percentage of the clubs left on each team's schedule is .522 for KC and .513 for Wichita.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

T-Bones Add Short Stop Phillips

KANSAS CITY, Kan. – The Kansas City T-Bones announced today that the club signed IF Anthony Phillips and that he will start tonight, when the T-Bones host the Cleburne Railroaders at 7:05 pm at T-Bones Stadium. To make room for Phillips the club has released OF Logan Moon.

Anthony Phillips joins KC after spending time with the St. Paul Saints this season and beginning the year with the Colorado Rockies organization. Phillips, a 28-year-old native of Bellville, South Africa played 34 games for the Saints hitting .242 with a home run and 16 RBI. In two stops with Colorado, Phillips played in 14 games at AAA Albuquerque with two home runs and nine RBIs and another six games at AA Hartford in the Eastern League going 5 for 25.

In 2017 Phillips played 99 games for AA Hartford with four homers and 24 RBIs hitting .209. The 2016 season Phillips spent the entire season at AA Arkansas in the Texas League for the Los Angeles Angels of Anaheim. In 114 games, he hit .259 with one home run and 37 RBIs in the Texas League. Phillips had his first stay with St. Paul in 2015 playing 91 games for the Saints hitting .269 with two home runs and 35 RBIs.

Phillips spent 2014 with the Philadelphia Phillies organization splitting time with three different levels in the minor league system. He spent 57 games hitting .229 with a home run and two RBIs another 31 games at AA Reading and two games at High A Lakewood. Combined he hit .230 at all three stops with two home runs and 24 RBIs.

The short stop began his baseball career with the Seattle Mariner organization, where he spent parts of six season. He would climb the ladder from rookie level in 2007 to AAA Tacoma in the Pacific Coast League. He played a career high 124 games at High A High Desert in the California League in 2013 hitting at a .259 clip with nine long balls and 43 RBIs.

Phillips was signed by former Big Leaguer turned scout Pat Kelly in 2006 at the age of 16. Kelly has served in various international baseball roles in Australia and has scouted the southern hemisphere for several organizations since his playing days were over. Phillips was spotted by Kelly during the 2006 U16 World Baseball Championships in Cuba with the South African Team.

Logan Moon joined Kansas City from nearby AAA Omaha in the Pacific Coast League. The Blue Springs, Missouri native was drafted in the 6th round of the 2014 June amateur draft by the Kansas City Royals. While with the Storm Chasers, Moon played in 34 games in 2018, hitting .193 with 12 RBIs. He spent most of his time in the outfield adding two games as a designated hitter. For the T-Bones Moon played in 19 games with an RBI and finished with a .232 average.

Krysa Rights Ship with Complete-Game, 5-2 Victory

After dropping their last three games and falling a half-game behind Joliet in the East Division pennant race, the Kansas City T-Bones (39-42, 17-16) got a complete-game effort from Jonathan Krysa to top the Calgary Vipers (32-48, 13-19) by a 5-2 score Thursday evening at Foothills Stadium.

Krysa (12-3) held the Vipers in check most of the night, giving up just two runs on eight hits in his second complete-game of the season- a 138-pitch effort in which the Rockhurst product struck out nine batters.

But the situation looked bleak for Krysa and the T-Bones early, as Calgary scored a pair of runs in the bottom of the first inning on an RBI-groundout from Aaron McEachran and Sharnol Adriana's base-hit to right field to take a 2-0 lead.

Kansas City struck back in the top of the second, plating a run on Doug Dreher's fielder's choice ground-out to cut the margin in half.

Darryl Lawhorn gave the T-Bones the lead for good with one out in the third. Following a Zach Norman walk, Lawhorn blasted a Tom Lyons offering over the center field wall to stake Krysa to a one-run lead.

The T-Bones added some insurance in the fifth on Robbie Knapp's RBI-single and a Pat Magness sacrifice-fly to extend the lead to 5-2, which would be more than enough for Krysa to finish the job and pick up his Northern League-best 12th victory of the season.

After Carlos Duncan hit into a momentum-shifting double-play to end the Vipers scoring threat in the first, Calgary struggled to find scoring opportunities against Kansas City's all-time strikeout leader. The Vipers sent the tying run to the plate in both the seventh and ninth innings, but each time Krysa got a key strikeout to extinguish the threat.

Lyons (0-6) took the loss for Calgary after allowing five runs (three earned) in 4 1/3 innings of work.

The T-Bones will begin a three-game series in Winnipeg with a 7:05 p.m. contest Friday. LHP Buddy Blair (4-7, 6.06) will oppose an as yet undetermined Winnipeg hurler. Be sure to catch all the action live on "The Light" 1030 AM, or on the internet at bonesbaseball.com.

MEET THE T-BONES STARTING PITCHER

Tonight's starter #15 LHP Adam Bleday

Adam Bleday Left-handed pitcher 23-year-old was born in Titusville, Pennsylvania. He was drafted by the Houston Astros in the 27th round of the 2017 draft. Bleday began his professional career in 2017 with the Astros rookie league team Greenville of the Appalachian League. While with the Astros he went 1-1 in nine games, with a 3.03 ERA and 35 strikeouts in 292²/₃ innings. He finished out the year with A- Tri-City in the New-York Penn League. While with the ValleyCats he went 1-1 in four games, with a 4.11 ERA and 15 strikeouts in 15 ¹/₃ innings.

Bleday made the next step up starting out 2018 with A Quad Cities in the Midwest League. While with the River Bandits, he went 2-2 in 11 games, with a 1.96 ERA and 37 strikeouts in 23 innings. Bleday continued to work his way up, next pitching seven games for A+ Buies Creek in the Carolina League. While with the Astros, he pitched in seven games with a 7.27 ERA and nine strikeouts in 8 ²/₃ innings. Bleday spent two seasons of college ball at the University of Pennsylvania in the Ivy league getting his degree. He spent one season at the University of Virginia and one season at junior college at Gulf Coast College.

MEET THE T-BONES HITTERS

10 Ryan Brett

Ryan Brett comes to Kansas City from the Chicago White Sox organization where he spent 10 games at AAA Charlotte in the International League but spent the bulk of 2018 at AA Birmingham in the Southern League. At AA Brett hit .265 in 47 games with three home runs and 15 RBIs. He spent 10 games with the AAA Knights and went 2 for 30 in limited action. Brett was drafted by the Tampa Bay Rays in the 3rd round of the MLB draft in 2010 out of Highline High School in Burien, Washington. He debuted at the rookie level Gulf Coast League, playing in 27 games and hitting .303 with nine RBIs and then making the next jump up the ladder to the Appalachian League the next season with Princeton. Brett would hit .300 in 64 games with three home runs and 24 RBIs and adding 21 stolen bases. The climb continued in 2012 where Brett played in 100 games with six home runs and driving in 35 runs with a .285 average. The following season the Washington state native would make three stops in the Rays organization, reaching AA for the first time in his career. In the AA Southern League Brett would play in 25 games for Montgomery, hitting .238 with three homers and 16 RBIs while adding another 51 games at High A Charlotte. While with the Stone Crabs, Brett would play 51 games with four long balls and 22 RBIs, hitting at a .340 clip. His combined average of .301 earned Brett a spot in the prestigious Arizona Fall League in 2013 where he would go 8 for 52 in 16 games at Salt River. Brett made the AA club out of spring training in 2014 and played in 107 games with the Biscuits, hitting eight home runs while knocking in 38 runs with a .303 average. His 27 stolen bases led the club and was good for second in the league. He would finish 12th at the plate in the league—just behind names like Kris Bryant (#1), Corey Seager (#2) and Micah Lamb (#6). Brett would score a team-leading 64 runs in a break-out season for the Rays organization. In 2015 Brett opened the season at AAA Durham but was promoted to the Big Leagues on April 18th and would appear in three games going 2-for-3. He injured his shoulder against the Boston Red Sox and spent the rest of the season at AAA. In 84 games at Durham, he would hit .247 with five homers and 30 RBIs. He missed all of 2016 following the injury and signed a minor league deal with Tampa for 2017 where he played in a combined 20 games between AAA Durham and AA Montgomery, hitting .284. Brett signed another minor league deal with the Texas Rangers for 2018, but he was released in spring training and then inked by the White Sox where he played this year.

9 Todd Cunningham

Todd Cunningham brings some major league experience to Kansas City with 67 big league games under his belt since 2013. The Alabama native most recently spent time with the Indianapolis Indians and the Charlotte Knights playing nine games a piece in 2018 before working his way to Kansas City. In those 18 games Cunningham had 3 RBI's and hit .163. Cunningham started his career with the Atlanta Braves organization playing for the Rome Braves. In his rookie year he played in 65 games with 20 RBIs and hit .260. His 2015 season was cut short in June because of an arm injury, and he did not return to the White Sox until late 2016. After Tommy John surgery in July of 2015, he returned for one game in 2016 with the rookie level White Sox of the AZ

Meet the “Man on the top step”

On November 30, 2016, Joe Calfapietra was named the T-Bones sixth manager in the club’s history. Calfapietra (pronounced Cal-fa-pee-eh-tra), 47, brings an overall record of 905-783 into his second season in Kansas City and his 18th season as a manager, all at the independent level. Calfapietra guided Kansas City to the second best overall franchise record in the club’s history (57-43) with the team finishing in a three-way tie for a post season spot for the league the wild card. The T-Bones did not advance due to a tie breaker but Calfapietra turned over the 2017 roster with only one hold over from the 2016 helping the club reached a franchise high of 84 days above .500 out of a 109 day season. Despite a 1-5 start to begin the season, his 2017 club reached .500 at 7-7 at Sioux Falls on June 2nd and stayed at or above for 93 days and 83 in a row. With the win on August 26th at Gary, Calfapietra won his 900th career game. He hit the 50-win mark August 23rd at home against Cleburne for the seventh straight season. Calfapietra spent 14 seasons as the manager of the New Jersey Jackals of the Can-Am League before taking over the dugout reigns of the T-Bones in 2017. While in New Jersey, only four of those 14 teams did not reach the postseason. The Jackals won the league championship in 2004, at the end of Calfapietra’s second season in New Jersey, and then his teams reached the league championship series in five consecutive seasons, 2011-15. In 2016, the Jackals went 62-38, before losing in the first round of the Can-Am playoffs. The T-Bones and Calfapietra’s Jackals faced each other seven times in interleague play since 2012, with New Jersey winning four of those games. Calfapietra started his coaching career in 1994 in this organization, when the T-Bones were in Duluth, Minn., and were known as the Dukes. In 2002, Calfapietra was the first-ever manager of the Gary SouthShore RailCats, where he was the league manager of the year, before starting with New Jersey the following season. Calfapietra lives in Collegeville, Pa., with his wife and their two daughters, ages 17 and 11. Calfapietra is the T-Bones’ sixth manager since the team moved from Duluth prior to the 2003 season and when he took over in 2017 he replaced John Massarelli, who went 139-160 in three seasons with Kansas City, including 42-58 in 2016.

Did you know?

-T-Bones Manager Joe Calfapietra was the first manager of the Gary SouthShore RailCats in 2002, going 35-55, a feat that may seem not too monumental at first glance. Yet, when you consider the team played their entire schedule on the road due to construction delays with their home ballpark, the numbers are impressive. For his efforts, he was named Manager of the Year

Next to 1000

-St. Paul Manager George Tsamis reached 1,000 career wins back on June 12th. He joined former Fargo boss Doug Simunic, current Gary Manager Greg Tagert and first year Chicago Dogs Manager Butch Hobson in the 1,000-win club in indy ball. Who is the next up to 1000 wins? Joe Calfapietra, who currently has 956 wins in his career.
