Sirens

Rain and sirens and life-threatening storms passed through the metro last night forcing the rainout of the series opener.

No Sunday Funday in Canada

The T-Bones took care of the Fargo-Moorhead RedHawks in the single game Monday 10-6. After trailing 1-0 the T-Bones took the lead in the first behind a home run from Darnell Sweeney. His two run shot made it 3-1 but KC was not done. Another two run shot by Ryan Brett and inning later and Carlos Franco hit another two run dinger and the offense was rolling. Mikey Reynolds added a triple in the seventh to drive in another run and Dylan Baker tossed five outstanding innings for KC in the win.

Today

The T-Bones welcome the Milwaukee Milkmen to T-Bones Stadium. It is the first ever meeting between the two clubs. It is the first and second games of a three-game series.

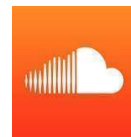

Pitching Matchups

Game 1- RHP Marc Magliaro will move into the rotation for KC. Magliaro arrives in KCK with a five-year resume of pro baseball experience, all with the Colorado Rockies organization. Magliaro, a career reliever, has 149 appearances in the minor leagues with a 4.81 ERA in 200.1 innings. After graduating in 2012, he spent the winter competing in several tryouts as a pitcher where the Rockies took notice and signed him as a free agent pitcher. The Rockies would send him to Tri-City in the Northwest League his first year where he would go 2-2 with a 3.90 ERA. This season in three outings he is 0-0 with a 7.36 ERA all in relief. Former T-Bones lefty Cody Dickson goes for the Milkmen. Dickson made one start for KC last year and left the game due to injury and did not pitch again. This year he is 0-1 with a 3.85 ERA. Dickson was the 4th round pick by the Pittsburgh Pirates in 2013 out of Sam Houston State University in Texas. In five seasons he is 37-28 with a 3.91 ERA.

Game 2 – RHP and KC native Robert Calvano gets the start in a bullpen day for the local nine. Calvano returns to Kansas City after a stint with the San Diego Padres organization. The native of KC became the 41st T-Bones to have his contract purchased on January 8, 2019 but was released during spring training. The T-Bones invited Calvano to KCK and 2019 T-Bones Spring Training and he was signed to a contract on May 13th. The T-Bones first signed the right-handed pitcher for the 2018 season on August 14th. The Milkmen will send out RHP Kurt Heyer. Heyer was drafted in the 6th round out of the University of Arizona by the St. Louis Cardinals. In eight seasons he has a record of 43-54 with a 4.45 ERA in 747 IP.

About the Milkmen

The Milwaukee Milkmen are the newest members of the American Association. They are set to open their brand-new ballpark Routine Field a 15-million-dollar park on Monday June 24th against the Gary SouthShore RailCats. Jose Rosario leads the club at the plate with a .286 average. Former T-Bone Myles Smith is off to a good start with 10 strike outs in five innings of relief with two saves. Gary McClure comes over from the Northwoods League club the Kokomo Jackrabbits to lead the Milkmen in their maiden season. McClure spent 28 years as the head coach at Austin Peay University from 1988 to 2015 and remains the winningest coach in school history as well as the Ohio Valley Conference.

Let the Countdown begin

With the win Monday night in the game over Fargo Joe Calfapietra now is 973 wins as a manager. He is set to be the next indy manager to 1000 win. St. Paul Manager George Tsamis reached 1,000 career wins back on June 12, 2018. He joined former Fargo boss Doug Simunic, current Gary Manager Greg Tagert and second year Chicago Dogs Manager Butch Hobson in the 1,000-win club in indy ball.

Overall — 18 seasons 973 823 .542

Double vision

The T-Bones have been rained out five times since Friday the 17th the opening night of the season. They have played four double headers after playing only four all of last season. The club was only washed away three times all season at home last year. The first did not come until August 15th against Fargo. The second came four days later on August 19th against Cleburne in a game that was not made up with the T-Bones only playing 99 games. The weather forced another rainout in Texas on June 7th the other double headers was a scheduled pair in Lincoln. This season the club was washed away on Saturday the 18th against Fargo and made up the next day the 19th. The back to back rain outs at home against Lincoln on the 20th and 21st and Friday night in Winnipeg. The back to back on Monday and Tuesday was the fourth time that the T-Bones have had back to back rainouts in a season. The last time was in 2015 when the T-Bones were washed away on back to back nights in Joplin on June 17th and 18th that season. In 2003 the last series was hampered by rain. On August 30th and 31st the T-Bones and the Sioux Falls Canaries had back to backs over Labor Day weekend eventually finishing the series with a single game on the 1st. In 2004 there was a suspended game followed by a rainout and the most famous of all was the 2008 Northern League Finals where Gary had a sink hole in left field with three days of rain to hold off the KC Championship celebration.

T-Bones down Diablos, win fourth straight

05/29/2012

El Paso, Texas - Kansas City second baseman Sean Henry hit a three-run home run to left field in the seventh inning, his first of the season, capping a four-RBI night as the T-Bones topped the El Paso Diablos 9-4 on Monday night at Cohen Stadium.

T-Bones right-hander Josh Rainwater earned the win in his third start of the season, improving to 1-2. He pitched seven innings, allowing two runs and giving up six hits. He walked one, struck out three, and saw his ERA drop from 11.00 to 6.75.

The T-Bones took an early 1-0 lead in the second inning on a sacrifice fly by left fielder Justin Bass that scored Kala Ka'aihue, who was activated from the disabled list earlier in the day. The RBI gave Bass his club-leading ninth of the season.

El Paso tied the game in the bottom of the third, but Kansas City answered with one run in the fourth and two in the fifth.

The T-Bones put the game out of reach in the seventh inning. After rookie right-hander Cody Railsback led off the inning by walking Jose Duran and Gus Milner, Henry deposited a fastball over the left-field wall, making the score 7-1.

El Paso scored one run in the seventh and two in the eighth, and then loaded the bases with one out in the ninth with Kansas City leading 9-4. But right-hander and Liberty, MO native Lucas Irvine wriggled out of the jam, striking out Bryan Frichter and then inducing a game-ending 4-3 groundout by Diablos third baseman Uriak Marquez.

The win is Kansas City's fourth straight and improves the ball club to a perfect 4-0 on the current six-game road trip in Texas. The T-Bones now sit at 6-5 on the year, the first time they have been above .500 in 20

Right-hander Marc Magliaro arrives in KCK with a five-year resume of pro baseball experience, all with the Colorado Rockies organization. Magliaro, a career reliever, has 149 appearances in the minor leagues with a 4.81 ERA in 200.1 innings. In 2018 Magliaro pitched in 36 games for AA Hartford in the Eastern League. He would post a 3-4 record with a 4.44 ERA in 48.2 innings with 51 strike outs. He gave up 24 earned runs on 49 hits at AA last season. Magliaro spent the entire 2017 season at high A Lancaster in the California League. He would work in 61.2 innings over 41 games out of the pen with a 5.11 ERA. Magliaro would strike out 53 while surrendering 73 hits and allowing 35 earned runs.

The 2016 season was a big bounce back season for Magliaro. He would come into 2016 after having missed all of the 2015 season recovering from a torn ulnar collateral ligament. Magliaro split time between high A Modesto in the California League and short season A Boise in the Northwest League. He would pitch, in relief, in 11 games at each stop, working 14.1 at Modesto with a 6.91 ERA and another 12.2 innings at Boise with a 0.71 ERA. He allowed just one earned run for Boise in 2016.

He had a busy 2014 season, making three stops in the Rockies organization. Magliaro tossed 28.1 innings in 19 games at rookie level Grand Junction in the Pioneer League. He added 22 strikeouts, giving up 18 earned runs on 39 hits with a 1-1 record and one save. He would appear in one game and give up three earned runs at short season A Tri-City and another three games at low A Asheville in the South Atlantic League. At Asheville he would work three relief innings and give up two earned runs.

Magliaro's route to the Rockies organization was not a traditional route for a pitcher. He was a non-drafted free agent signee out of Rowan University (New Jersey) in 2013, but he did not pitch until his senior season. Magliaro would make a name for himself in college as a shortstop. He was a four-year starter at short with a .328 career batting average in 164 games. He registered 212 hits in 647 at bats with 115 runs scored and 85 RBIs. He stole 39 bases in 50 attempts and produced a .393 on-base percentage while serving as team captain his final year. During his senior season, Magliaro began to close games for Rowan and would notch five saves in eight games over 8.1 innings with four strike outs and no earned runs in 2012.

After graduating in 2012, he spent the winter competing in several tryouts as a pitcher where the Rockies took notice and signed him as a free agent pitcher. The Rockies would send him to Tri-City in the Northwest League his first year where he would go 2-2 with a 3.90 ERA. He would work in 27 games and cover 30 innings with 24 strikeouts in his rookie season. He would earn his first professional victory in his first professional appearance, tossing 1.2 scoreless innings in a 4-3 home win against Vancouver on June 16.

At Rowan University as a senior he was named to the New Jersey Athletic Conference (NJAC) All-Conference second team. Magliaro also was chosen to the New Jersey Collegiate Baseball Association (NJCBA) Division II/III All-State first team. He earned NCAA Newport News Regional All-Tournament Team honors. In 2011, Magliaro was selected to the NJAC All-Conference first team and NJCBA Division II/III All-State second teams. He earned NJCBA All-Rookie Team honors as a freshman. Magliaro posted a .328 career batting average in 164 games with the Profs while in college. He also stole 39 bases and scored 115 runs as a four-year starter at shortstop. The 29-year-old right-hander played his high school ball at Monroe Township High School in Monroe, New Jersey.

Biography:

Robert Calvano returns to Kansas City after a stint with the San Diego Padres organization. The native of KC became the 41st T-Bones to have his contract purchased on January 8, 2019 but was released during spring training. The T-Bones invited Calvano to KCK and 2019 T-Bones Spring Training and he was signed to a contract on May 13th. The T-Bones first signed the right-handed pitcher for the 2018 season on August 14th. Calvano recorded his only save as a T-Bone on September 2nd, 2018 working a scoreless 14th inning in the T-Bones 3-2 playoff clinching win at Gary SouthShore. For the season the right-hander was 0-1 with a 7.71 ERA in seven innings with six strike outs on the season.

Calvano grew up in Kansas City, Missouri before attending college in Nebraska at the University of Nebraska at Omaha. After graduating, Calvano was drafted in the 38th round of the 2016 June MLB draft by the St. Louis Cardinals. In his first season he played rookie ball for the Cardinals posting a 1-1 record with a 6.06 ERA and 14 strikeouts. In 2017 he started the year with Johnson County in the Appalachian league. While with the Cardinals, Calvano went 0-3 with a 5.23 ERA in six games. In July, he moved up to play with A(short) State College in the New York Penn League. While with the Spikes, he went 0-0 with a 6.75 ERA in 5 1/3 innings. Calvano spent 2018 with two other teams before joining the T-Bones. He started the year with the Palm Beach Cardinals in the Florida State League before traveling to A(full) Peoria in the Midwest League. He had a combined record of 0-0 and averaged a 7.71 ERA in 4 2/3 innings of relief. As a Senior (2016) at the University of Nebraska-Omaha he worked 6.2 innings of relief with no record and five strike outs and a 6.75 ERA. As a Junior (2015) Calvano made eight mound appearances in relief, totaling 5.2 innings of work with eight strike outs in eight games. As a Junior (2014) he made two appearances on the mound, including one start. Went 0-0 with a 4.50 ERA for the season over 4.0 innings pitched and held opponents to a .200 batting average. He was limited that season due to suffering a season-ending injury on March 8th. Calvano began his college career at Johnson County CC where he played two seasons. In 2013, he went 1-2 on the mound with a 3.65 ERA over eight appearances, including five games started. The righty struck out 23 batters while walking nine over 23.0 innings pitched. In 2012, he made three mound appearances, including one start going 1-0 with a 1.69 ERA, totaling 5.1 innings of work and struck out seven and walked three for the season. Calvano attended Bishop Miege High School and was selected to the all-conference, all-state, all-metro, and all-sun teams as a senior.
